

ARTISTS BIOGRAPHIES

Laurel Fredrickson (born 1958) has worked as a studio art instructor at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago since 1989. Her interests are centered in contemporary and modern art, theory, and criticism. Fredrickson explores various topics within these art-historical periods, including performance art, feminism, and the intersections of art and politics. Fredrickson earned a BFA in printmaking from Washington University in 1980. She also recently obtained an MFA in painting and drawing from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago 1987.

Susan Peterson grew up in Glenwood, Minnesota, a farming community of 2,700. Peterson attended Carleton College, and is currently pursuing an MFA degree at the University of Illinois at Chicago, where she focuses on producing sculpture and installations that center on light, sound, and image.